INCLUDES 5-YEAR FORECASTS TO 2018

Q4 2014

Rapid Growth Forecast For Coal Mining

Botswana - Select Minerals Production

Country Economic Forecast

Romania

Highlights

- Although quarterly growth slowed to 0.1% in Q1, this followed two very strong quarters and still meant that the economy was 2.8% up on a year earlier, the fastest in the EU. Household consumption was the main driver of economic growth, up 6.6% year-on-year, comfortably its strongest rate since before the global financial crisis. And while Q2 may see some setback for consumption after the sharp rise in Q1, we expect a robust underlying trend in the coming quarters. By contrast, both government consumption and investment contracted in Q1, but the latter should start to pick up soon in response to the marked improvement in both exports and consumer spending over the last year. With regard to the external sector, the likely boost to exports from the gradual Eurozone recovery is likely to be outweighed by faster domestic demand sucking in more imports. Overall, we have raised our 2014 GDP growth forecast to 3% from 2.8% last month.
- CPI inflation was just 0.9% in May, the lowest on record. In large part, the latest decline was driven by
- we do not believe that the central bank will lower the policy interest rate any further (it last cut in February). The central bank attributes recent currency strength to external factors and it believes inflation will pick up in the coming months.
- The IMF remains confident in Romania's ability to implement meaningful structural reform. However, policymakers still need to make a lot of progress if they are to achieve the IMF targets. While Romgaz was privatised last year, energy sector assets Hidroelectrica and Ottenia have yet to be sold off. In addition, despite likely opposition from the IMF, the government will probably implement a 5% cut in the payroll tax rate as it looks to spur growth. Overall, though, the government remains committed to its policy goals and we believe it will continue to work towards meeting its fiscal targets and reform objectives.
- Although we have upgraded Romania's economic prospects, there remain risks from a more severe Eurozone crisis, a setback to the modest Eurozone

Abstract

This article uses a literature review about postponement, decoupling point and cold chain to offer alternatives for Brazilian distribution of refrigerated chicken. It was possible to conclude that a decoupling point between first and further industrialization can be a viable option for selling and distributing refrigerated chicken that has from seven to maximum of thirty days of shelf life.

Reverse innovation is not always either foreseeable or explicitly pursued by Western companies operating in emerging markets. It arises from the initiative of the foreign subsidiary and results when products initially developed in the emerging market threaten the primary market of the parent company. This has been the case for a developed product exclusively for the Chinese market that, surprisingly, was eventually introduced in the market for which it was developed. The development of the product presented challenges with at both the subsidiary and the corporate levels.

4. Searching ProQuest Central

Basic Search from ProQuest's Main Page

Search Example 1 : Search with a keyword Pandemic.

- Please enter the keyword in the search box.

The screenshot shows the ProQuest website interface. At the top, there is a teal header with the ProQuest logo, a menu icon, and the text "Access provided by PQCS Internal - PQ TRAINERS MASTER ACCOUNT". Below the header, there is a navigation bar with links: "Basic Search", "Advanced Search", "Publications", "Browse", and "Databases (215)". The main content area features a large, dark, textured background image. Overlaid on this is a search interface. At the top of the search interface are several filter buttons: "All", "Scholarly Journals", "Books", "Videos & Audio", "Dissertations & Theses", and "More". Below these is a search input box containing the word "pandemic", which is highlighted with a red rectangle. To the right of the input box is a magnifying glass icon. Below the input box are two checkboxes: "Full text" and "Peer reviewed". To the right of the checkboxes is a link labeled "Search tips". At the bottom of the search interface, there is a message: "You are searching 215 databases containing scholarly journals, books, videos & audio, dissertations & theses, newspapers and more." Below this message is a link: "Looking for some help or guidance?".

Abstract (summary)

Specifically, while our early concerns centered on the dramaturgy of the production (for example, the strategic editing of the script and the production design), at the end of the process, we came to appreciate the infrastructural context on which the play depended. [...]this essay will discuss the dramaturgy (theory and praxis) of the production itself, and the historical, artistic, and material contexts in which our production team collaborated on Voices in 2013. The protests seemed to revive the long dormant "Left coalition." Since the early days of the Obama administration, the Tea Party has provided the Right with a tenuous coalition, which mobilizes a constituency despite internal contradictions between libertarians, such as Rand Paul, and more fundamentalist conservatives like Ted Cruz. [...]the inability to cast representatively is a symptom of an inadequate infrastructure facilitating connections between communities of color and the predominantly white, Left activist communities and academic Left of UW-Madison, both of which represented the core of the production team. Because of this staging and the fact that the monologues interrupted one another, the characters appeared to be in dialogue-as if these historical figures were debating their ideas at a kitchen table.

The first result is 'Walking in the Periphery: Activist Art and Urban Resistance to Neoliberalism in Istanbul' by Türeli, Ipek; Al, Meltem, published in 'Review of Middle East Studies'. The second result is 'Indigenous Womanhood, Precarity and the Nation State: An Arts-based Performance that offers a New Pathway to Reconciliation' by Murphy, Tracey, published in 'Liminalities'. The third result is 'Critical Prison Studies: Review of a Field' by Seigel, Micol, published in 'American Quarterly'. Each result has a 'Show Abstract' button.

Boolean Operator #1 – AND Search & Exact Phrase Search

Search Example 3 : Search with a keyword Basic Income.

- Let's see the difference between AND Search & Exact-phrase Search.
- AND Search : type basic AND income or simply basic income into the search box.
- Please enter the operator 'AND' in capital letters.
- Exact-phrase Search : enclose the 2 words with double quotation marks “ ”, like “basic income”

What is AND SEARCH?

Search Scope of AND SEARCH

The results contain BOTH
Word 'A' and Word 'B'.

Image of AND SEARCH

The content has BOTH 'Basic' and 'Income' (somewhere).

What is Exact-phrase SEARCH?

Image of Exact-phrase SEARCH

The 2 words Basic Income that are enclosed with “ ” are treated as though they are 1 word or a phrase.

【Examples of Exact-phrase SEARCH】

- “discourse analysis”
- “gender equality”
- “internet of things”
- “gravitational wave”
- “to be, or not to be”

Boolean Operator #2 – OR Search

Search Example 4 : Search for documents that contain EITHER Climate Change OR Climate Crisis

- OR Search : Connect two words with the operator 'OR' like “climate change” OR “climate crisis”.

What is OR SEARCH?

Search Scope of OR SEARCH

The results contain EITHER Word 'A' OR Word 'B'.

Boolean Operator #3 – NOT Search

Search Example 5 : Search for documents that contain the word Clean Energy, but do NOT include the word Nuclear.

- NOT Search : Connect two words with the operator 'NOT' like “clean energy” NOT nuclear.

What is NOT SEARCH?

Search Scope of NOT SEARCH

Search the contents that have Word 'A', but exclude results that also contain Word 'B'.

Image of NOT SEARCH

The content includes the word 'Clean Energy', but it does not have 'Nuclear' in the texts.

Search by author's name

Search Example 6 : Search contents written by Prof. Paul Krugman

- Open [Advanced Search] ⇒ Enter Krugman, Paul

Keyword Search vs. Subject Search

Search Example 7 : Compare the results between the keyword search and subject search with a keyword Social Change

- For Subject Search, open [Advanced Search] ⇒ Enter “social change”
⇒ Change the dropdown menu to [Subject heading - MAINSUBJECT]

The screenshot displays the ProQuest Advanced Search interface. The 'Advanced Search' tab is selected and highlighted with a red box. The search term '"social change"' is entered in the search field and also highlighted with a red box. The dropdown menu for the search type is set to 'Subject heading – MAINSUBJECT', which is also highlighted with a red box. A red arrow points from the text 'Change the dropdown menu to [Subject heading - MAINSUBJECT]' to this dropdown menu. Below the main search field, there is a section for building a search query with a dropdown set to 'AND', an empty search field, and another dropdown set to 'Anywhere'. A '+ Add a row' button is located at the bottom left of the search area.

Keyword Search

The content actually has the keyword(s) in its texts. However, its main theme may be about different topics.

Subject Search

The content may not state the keyword anywhere in the texts. However, its main theme is about the keyword and therefore the content is strongly relevant.

Thesaurus for finding similar & related subject terms

Search Example 8 : Search for the similar terms & related terms of a subject term 'Product Development'

- Open [Advanced Search] and click [Thesaurus]
- Search within [ProQuest thesaurus (subjects) ]

5. Creating bibliography & export to RefWorks

Creating bibliography

You can create a bibliography with the contents on ProQuest.

- Tick the boxes on the left side of result documents ⇒ click  [Cite]

The screenshot shows the ProQuest interface with a list of four search results. Each result has a checkbox on the left, a thumbnail, the title, author, journal, volume, issue, and date, and options for 'Abstract/Details', 'Full text', and 'Full text - PDF'. A red box highlights the checkboxes for all four items. Another red box highlights the 'Cite' icon (a speech bubble with a quote) in the top right of the results list. A red arrow points from this icon to the 'Cite' dialog box on the right.

- Select the Citation style from the drop down & click [Change]
- Please copy the result texts of bibliography to your document

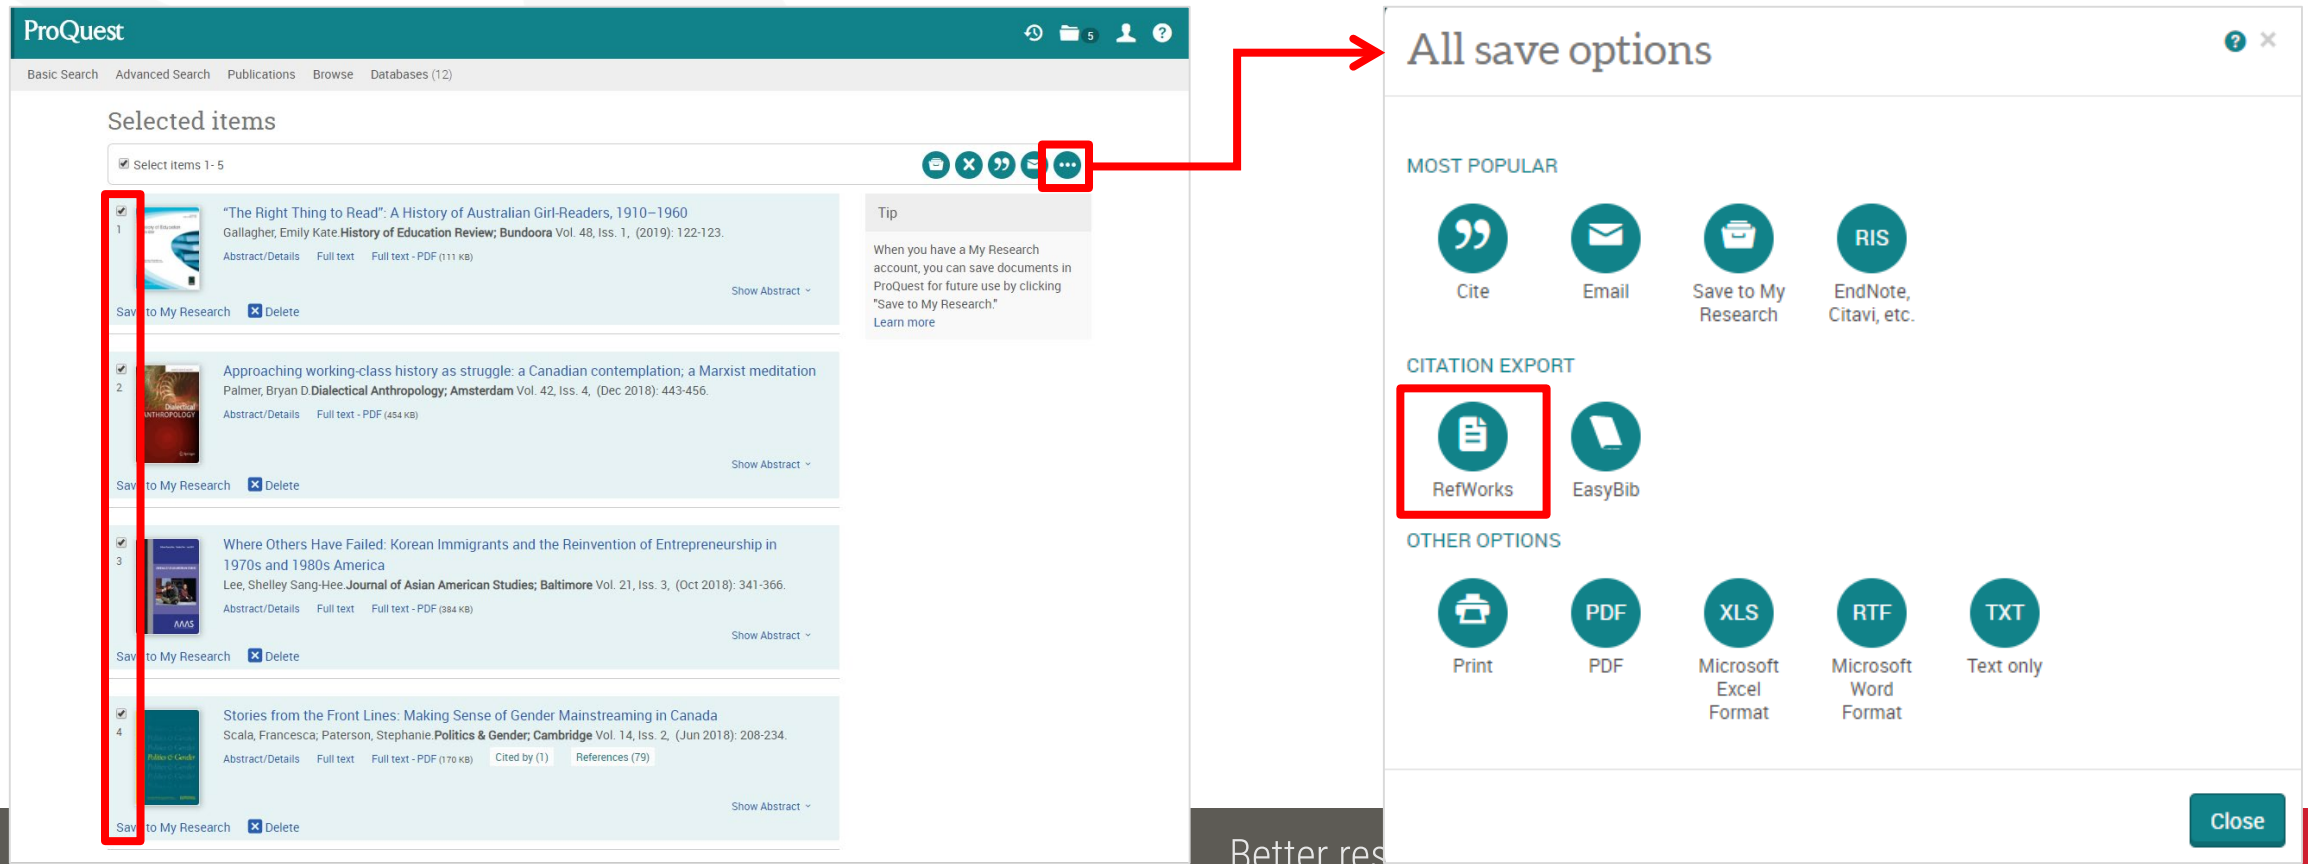

The 'Cite' dialog box shows 'Items selected: 5' and a 'Deselect items when done' checkbox. The 'Citation style' dropdown is set to 'Harvard - British Standard', with a 'Change' button next to it. Below this, there are links for 'Email', 'Print', and 'Download'. A red box highlights the list of citations, which includes: AGHDAIE, S.F.A. and MOMENI, R., 2011.
